Chairman's Letter

Dear Stakeholder:

Since 1954, Junior Achievement of Southern Colorado, Inc. has been at the forefront of economic education. What started out as a single after-school club has mushroomed into sequential, integrated programming spanning the entire K-12 curricula. Today, Junior Achievement, working in partnership with more than 200 local schools, offers 19 programs which focus on entrepreneurship, financial literacy and workforce readiness. What makes Junior Achievement so unique is that all of the programs are taught by local business and community volunteers.

Junior Achievement's mission of inspiring young people to value our free enterprise system is more important today than at any time in our history. Future economic prosperity depends on our ability to foster the economic system that has become the global leader in economic output. The wealth creation process is at the core of our ability to pass on higher standards of living to the next generation. We need to embrace both success and failure as stepping stones to long-term success. Most of all, we need to hold true to our values that above all else, opportunity needs to be preserved as a cornerstone of our foundational teachings.

As you read through the 2010 Junior Achievement of Southern Colorado, Inc. Annual Report, we ask that you take a minute to ask yourself whether or not you are doing all you can to make sure today's young people understand and value our American Free Enterprise System. Junior Achievement of Southern Colorado, Inc. has in place a network that delivers economic knowledge. We invite you to join our network.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Barry P. Straub". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Barry Straub
Chairman of the Board

Junior Achievement Programs

Elementary

Students in kindergarten through fifth grade are introduced to basic personal economic issues, and the role of families and social responsibility in the local economy. They examine planning decisions in a city, economic resources within states and regions, and how businesses need workers who can meet the demands of the job market. The After-School Program teaches personal financial and business skills through innovative and fun activities. The JA curriculum is designed to tie closely with state standards.

Middle School

Already focusing on the importance of school and career, programs in sixth, seventh and eighth grade encompass business values and decisions while reinforcing the concepts of entrepreneurship and international trade.

High School

As students' interests and needs mature, the classroom focus turns to how economics relate to their lives. They learn basic financial planning, workplace ethics and skills such as budgeting and investing. And through a sophisticated online simulation, many get first-hand experience in running a virtual business. JA volunteers provide positive adult role models and lead students toward workforce readiness.

21st Century Skills Forum

Building a dream

Growth projected to include three school districts in 2011.

Graphic: The Design Partnership

On January 15, 2010, Junior Achievement of Southern Colorado, Inc., teamed with sponsors and funders to present a unique career workshop to 300 high school students from two area school districts. Pikes Peak Community College hosted the event, which united volunteers from the business community, educators and students for a glimpse of what it takes to become a successful citizen and worker in the 21st century.

Goal

Increase student interest in emerging national and global issues and the education skills needed for related careers in these areas.

“ I want to go into the technology field so it was really eye opening as to what jobs were available.

“ It helped me confirm my career choice and clarified my priorities.
